3. COOKIES

Cookies are small text files that are placed on your device when you access our website, and they can be used to collect information such as your browser type, IP address, and pages visited on our site. EBlock uses cookies to conveniently allow you not to re-enter data/information, such as your contact details, multiple times during your visits to our Web sites. Cookies can also help us provide data/information targeted to your interests based on your prior browsing on our Websites. Cookies also help us to detect bugs and errors on our Sites.

You can manage your cookie preferences by adjusting the settings in your web browser. Please note that disabling cookies (such as essential or functional cookies) may limit your ability to use certain features of our website. Despite this, you can disable cookies in your browser at any time.

Cookie preferences must be set for each Internet browser. You generally have several ways to manage cookies, including: allowing or disallowing cookies entirely, deleting specific cookies that the browser has already stored, preventing certain websites from sending cookies to your computer, or blocking third-party cookies (when you browse a website, cookies are sent to your computer from another website). If you have any questions about our use of cookies, please contact us using the contact information provided below.

4. BROWSER-BASED DO NOT TRACK

Some browsers incorporate a “Do Not Track” (DNT) feature that, when turned on, signals to websites and online services that you do not want to be tracked. Because there is not yet an accepted standard for responding to a DNT signal, we do not currently respond to DNT signals on this website or websites where we provide advertisements, content, or other services.

5. HOW DO WE STORE AND SECURE YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

Your personal information is hosted on the servers of our trusted service provider located in the United States of America. As a result, your data may be stored and processed in any province or country where we have offices or in which we engage third party service providers. You consent to transfer information to jurisdictions outside of your province or country of residence, which may have data protection rules different from those in your province or country of residence. While such information is outside of your country of residence, it is subject to the laws of the province or country in which it is held and may be subject to disclosure to the governments, courts, law enforcement or regulatory agencies of such other province or country, according to local laws.

We implement physical, administrative and technical safeguards designed to preserve the confidentiality, integrity and security of personal information under our control. However, information transmitted on the Internet and/or stored on systems attached to the Internet is not 100% secure, and no security can provide absolute protection. As a result, we do not ensure, warrant or guarantee the security or integrity of such information.

We retain your personal information only for as long as necessary to fulfil the relevant purposes specified in this Policy and comply with our legal obligations. If you would like more information about the length of time we retain your personal information, please contact our Privacy Officer using the contact details below.

This Policy does not apply to third-party websites. We are not responsible for their privacy policies, procedures or practices.

6. CHILDREN’S PRIVACY

This website is not directed to children under 14, and we do not knowingly collect personal information from children under 14 on our Sites. Suppose you are the parent or legal guardian of a child under 14 who has provided us with personal information, you may contact us using the contact information below to ask us to stop using or to delete that information.

7. YOUR RIGHTS

Under certain circumstances and subject to applicable data protection laws, supported by a written request and proof of identification, you may consult the personal information that we have collected, used or communicated, and/or ask that it be corrected, and/or withdraw your consent to our communication or use of personal information collected.

As required or permitted by law, you may be entitled to additional rights, including (i) the right to control the dissemination of your personal information; (ii) the right to receive computerized personal information collected from you in a structured, commonly used and technological format and to have this information transferred directly to another organization; (iii) the right to be informed of and submit observations regarding automated decision-making; and (iv) the right to request information about data processing.

You can request access to your personal information in our custody or control, or otherwise exercise your rights by contacting our Privacy Officer using the contact information below. If we cannot fulfil your request in whole or in part, we will provide the reasons for denying your request.

If you believe that applicable data protection laws still need to be complied with, you may complain to us using the contact information provided below. You also have the right to complain directly to the appropriate data protection authority.

8. HOW TO UNSUBSCRIBE

If you wish to stop receiving marketing messages from us at any time, please follow the unsubscribe instructions included in our emails or contact us via one of the methods listed below.

9. UPDATES TO THIS POLICY

Please consult our Sites regularly to stay informed of changes to this Policy, as we may update it occasionally. If we update this Policy, we will post a notice on the Sites informing about the changes and their effective date. Your continued use of the Sites following an update to this Policy indicates that you have read, understand and accept the current version of the Policy.
